General Information

Spirit and Purpose

Buildings and equipment do not make a college, but its real strength rests with the personalities it draws together, and the unselfishness of the purpose which unifies and directs their activities.

Statesville Female College was founded in 1857 by North Carolina Presbyterians as a Home School where young women of average means might obtain a thorough education under positive Christian influence.

The ideal of the founders remains the ideal of the College today.

A long line of graduates and students trained for Christian service is the richest heritage of the College, and the real asset with which she pursues a larger growth and usefulness.

Location

The bracing atmosphere and temperate climate of Western North Carolina make Statesville an ideal location for school work.

The mild weather and the inviting campus encourage outdoor recreation, which has contributed much to the fine health record of the school.

Statesville is a town of business enterprise and progressive spirit, and is well known for its good health and clean, moral tone.

Ample railroad facilities place Statesville in easy connection with all parts of the country.

STATESVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

With quiet, shaded streets, beautiful avenues, and lovely homes, with a strong religious atmosphere, with a people kind, cordial, and cultured, Statesville provides a happy and an inspiring environment to the earnest student.

Buildings and Grounds

The College campus contains four acres, situated in the highest and most attractive part of the city. The grounds are well kept and beautiful, and afford ample opportunity for healthful recreation and outdoor life.

The buildings, constructed of brick, are handsome and commodious, and are fitted with the most improved methods of sanitation, heating, lighting, ventilation, and fire escapes.

The original Academic Building is in classic colonial architecture, and contains class rooms, library, parlors, dining-room, expression and art studios, laboratories, study hall, offices and dormitories. During the past year, with funds secured from friends of the College in Statesville, this building underwent a thorough renovation, and is now comfortable and attractive throughout.

Shearer Music Hall, erected in 1908, is connected with the old building, and contains an auditorium for concert and commencement purposes, music studios, practice rooms, society halls, and dormitories.

The buildings are conveniently arranged, and are supplied with modern equipment. Electric bells announce the school hours. The halls are wide, the rooms are large and well furnished. Bath rooms and closets are conveniently located on the halls, and every floor is supplied with hot and cold water.

Faculty

Location, buildings and equipment are important, but the real strength of any school must lie in its teaching force.

STATESVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

Statesville College believes that true education is character building, and, therefore, employs only teachers of the highest character and training.

In the various departments are men and women of the highest ideals who have been educated in standard colleges and universities of this country and abroad, and who have had successful experience in the class room.

Moreover, each member of the faculty, in and out of the class room, is a personal friend of the student, and, by the power and inspiration of personal touch and by a cordial and sympathetic interest earnestly seeks to build her life into a symmetrical and beautiful womanhood.

Home Life

Statesville College is a big home where teachers and students mingle freely together, and where the principle of government is that of confidence and kindness rather than stringent rule. The warm home atmosphere, the co-operative spirit, and the Christian influence make this a college community of ideal charm and contentment. It is the aim of the College home to develop a well-rounded womanly character, at once strong, resourceful, reverent, earnest, self-reliant, and self-controlled, yet always characterized by that gentleness and graciousness of speech and manner that is the finest flower of womanhood.

Health

The true college aims to enrich the mind and to strengthen the body. An education at the cost of shattered nerves and physical prostration is a crime. Every safeguard is thrown around the general sanitation of the college community, and vigilant and constant care is given to the health of each student.

Physical culture is taught by a trained teacher, and daily exercise in the open air is required.

STATESVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

An abundance of wholesome food, well prepared and attractively served is provided in the dining hall, and irregular and injudicious eating is discouraged.

Regular hours are planned for study, for rising and retiring, and for rest and recreation.

A physician of skill and experience is employed by the College, who overlooks the sanitary condition of the buildings and who attends the student in case of sickness.

Social Culture

Social training is an important part of every girl's education. At suitable intervals receptions and entertainments are given, which serve to break the monotony of school life, and which help to cultivate courtesy, ease of manner, and other social graces.

The Young Woman's Christian Association gives a reception to the new students at the beginning of the fall term, and the Music Department presents frequent recitals which add greatly to the enjoyment of life in the College.

Religious Activities

A marked religious spirit pervades the College, and every effort is made to stimulate and strengthen the impulse toward Christian life and service. Regular Bible courses form a necessary part of the curriculum, and the College maintains an active Young Woman's Christian Association in which the faculty co-operate heartily with the students. The Sabbath School, taught by members of the faculty, systematic Bible training and Mission study, daily devotional exercises at chapel, and evening prayers conducted by the young ladies, are some of the agencies which shape the religious life of the student. All students must attend the daily chapel exercises, and all boarding pupils are required to attend the church of their choice on Sabbath.

Literary Societies

There are two literary societies known as the Phi Kappa and the Phi Mu, one of which every student is expected to join. Meetings are held twice a month and interesting programs are rendered, consisting of music, literary essays, and debates. The societies are a valuable aid in cultivating fluency and ease in addressing audiences, and in training the members in parliamentary usage.

Reports and Examinations

At the end of every quarter examinations are held and a report of the standing of each student is made to her parent or guardian. A Golden Report is issued to the young lady who makes an average of 95 or above on each subject.

Improvements

During the past summer a large sum of money was given by friends of the College in town for improving the College plant. This fund has been wisely expended in renewing the floors and stairways throughout the old building, in repairing and painting the walls, and in adding new equipment for the class rooms. These substantial improvements have greatly increased the attractiveness of the College, and added to the comfort of the students.

New Pipe Organ

In the fall of 1916 a two-manual Pipe Organ of handsome design and exquisite tonal qualities was installed in Shearer Music Hall. This splendid instrument, which lends dignity and importance to the Department of Music, was the generous gift of Mr. C. E. Mills, of Statesville.

Domestic Science

Recent educational reform has placed the home-maker's work among the sciences, and courses in Domestic Art and Domestic Science are now regarded as essential in a well-rounded education for women. Responding to this progressive movement the Alumae of Statesville College have equipped a department for the study of the home and its varied problems. These loyal ladies have transformed a large room into a model kitchen, supplied with a gas range, a Domestic Science table, and all neccessary utensils and conveniences. In charge of a capable teacher the department has a well planned course of study, and has already won an established place among the most popular activities of the College.

STATESVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

Lectures and Recitals

At stated times during the session musical and literary recitals are given by members of the faculty and by advanced students in Expression and Music. These programs are of a high order, and are intended to refine and cultivate the taste and to deepen the appreciation of the beautiful in literature and music.

Public spirited citizens of Statesville have maintained the past year a Winter Chautauqua Course of unusual excellence. These entertainments have been given in Shearer Music Hall, and the students at a nominal cost have had the opportunity of hearing distinguished speakers, lecturers, and artists.

Medals and Prizes

WOOD BIBLE MEDAL

The family of the late Rev. W. A. Wood, D. D., offer a medal to the pupil who makes the highest grade for the year in Senior Bible.

THE CALDWELL ENGLISH MEDAL

In honor of her distinguished brother, the late Editor J. P. Caldwell, Miss Jennie A. Caldwell has established a medal to be awarded at each annual Commencement to the member of the Senior Class making the highest average for the year in the Department of English.

MACDOWELL MUSIC CLUB PRIZE

This deposit must be made by each pupil, and no room is considered to be finally engaged until this advance payment has been made. A choice of rooms and roommates must be approved by the Lady Principal.

Uniform and Outfits

On the streets and on public occasions students will be required to wear the College uniform, which will consist of a white coat suit with white shirt waist of cotton or linen material for fall or spring, and a navy blue coat suit and navy blue silk shirt waist for winter. No trimming of any color except navy blue is allowed on the winter uniform. The regulation black Oxford cap is worn for all seasons. For every day wear in the College boarders may use simple home dresses.

Students should provide themselves with umbrella, rubbers, rain-cloak, two clothes' bags, white counterpanes, blankets, and sheets for double beds, pillow slips, towels, table napkins, tumbler and teaspoon, and toilet articles. Each article, if possible, should be plainly marked with the owner's name.

Art

The Art Department offers a thorough three year course leading to a certificate. Special instruction in elementary and free hand drawing. Still life, cast, nature and flat work in charcoal, crayons, water color and oil. The studio is especially fitted for china painting being fully equipped with an up-to-date Revelation Kiln for firing china, glass ware, pottery, etc. Too much stress cannot be laid upon this department in rounding out the education of our daughters.

Department of Music

At the present day a knowledge of Music is considered a requirement for a liberal education. The college realizes this and has equipped the music department in the best way possible. Nothing has been left undone which could help to make the course in music attractive and thorough. The teachers are graduates trained in America and in Europe. They are experienced and conscientious.

STATESVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

The School of Music occupies the lower floor of the new building, Shearer Music Hall. There is a large auditorium, seating 800 or more. A beautiful pipe-organ was installed recently, built by the Estey Company. Along the hall at the rear of the stage are the practice rooms, which are equipped with new pianos built by the Knabe Company. Most of the teacher's studios are also on this hall. The practice is superintended and conscientious work is required of all pupils.

The pupils of the School of Music are of three kinds: 1st. those who enter the Regular Course in Music leading to the Music Diploma and degree of Bachelor of Music, 2nd: those students who are enrolled in college as candidates for the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science who take up music as an extra study or as an elective, 3rd: students residing in Statesville and not enrolled in any other department of the college. It is maintained by the faculty that the student who receives the degree, B. Mus., must have a good education in English and other literary branches. The course has been outlined with this in view.

Instruction is given in Piano, Voice, Organ, Sight Singing, Violin, Harmony, Theory, History of Music, Ear Training and Music appreciation.

The classes in Harmony, Theory, Sight Singing, History of Music, and Theory are open to all music students free of charge. Those who do not take Piano, Voice, Organ, or Violin may enter on payment of the fee. (See the list of expenses.)

Recitals and Concerts will be given frequently by the students in order that they may become accustomed to appearing in public. Recitals are also given by members of the Music Faculty, and visiting artists will be engaged for concerts.

NEW PIPE ORGAN

STATESVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

A public recital is required of candidates for graduation.

The Choral Society will be composed of all the music students who have not been excused by the Director. Other students who sing and who read music are invited to join. A College Glee Club has also been organized.

The minimum time for practice for piano students is two periods a day. Those who are candidates for the degree in music must practice at least four periods.

The work for each term has been carefully planned and the student must do satisfactory work and receive a passing grade before entering on the work of the succeeding term.
